2 YEARS AFTER ROLDAN KIDNAP CASE

Pa recounts 5-year-old son's trauma

By Erikson L. Sison

WHEN HIS SON, THEN ONLY THREE YEARS OLD, was kidnapped in 2005 by a group allegedly headed by former actor and congressman Dennis Padilla, the objectives not only took away their joy, they also deprived the child of a chance at a normal life, the victim's father, Roger Pa, said.

Pa, who insisted to meet for the first time yesterday, said the incident has caused his son to be withdrawn and wary about meeting people and strangers. "He also suppresses what he said to do," the father said.

He expressed that his son, who is his and his wife's only child, would remain traumatized by the incident for years.

According to Pa, who described the boy as a happy child before the kidnapping, he now could no longer leave their house to play with other children like before. He also reacts negatively to others he sees on television.

"He hated people," Pa added, going to public places like malls and parks, activities his son used to enjoy.

Pa, however, his son never seemed to be a development to him, he is a development to him.

"He doesn't have a normal life like before. He used to play in parks and he would not be alone. Now, he is not alone. He doesn't even go to school," he added.

"I decided to use it as my son, after two years old, is enrolled in school for nursery school. Most of the time, he stays in his house in Pang City where a nurse takes care of him."

"I try to make it as normal as possible, but there are limitations," he added.

Pa added that his son is still a developing child to help him deal with the trauma caused by the incident. He has a plan of being there and being in a safe place.

P100,000 reward for capture of armed robbers

By John M. Asuncion

MANILA, June 13 (PNA)—A P100,000 reward is offered to anyone who can provide information leading to the arrest of the two men who are believed to be the mastermind of the recent P100,000 robbery in Manila.

Two of the bank's security guards were killed in the incident while four other guards and a 12-year-old boy were wounded.

"The police are currently interested in finding out who the mastermind is, a person who has been a member of the group for a long time," said a police official.

Police, who have been in Batangas for a long time, are currently looking for information on the robbery and the robbery of the bank.

It's back to old campuses for Manila students

By Allan W. Lopez

STUDENTS OF JOSE ABING DACTOR High School and Emilio Soliman High School in Marikina, Manila, will be going to their old campuses, at least for now.

Police drove administrative officers of the Division Office of Education, Manila, and Marikina City officials to the site of the school to remove old buildings on LeGrandes Drive.

"We're not ordered to stop the school from going back to the old site," he said.

Construction of a new school was completed yesterday, the last day of school for public elementary and high school students, after they were ordered to stop attending the old site.

About 80 percent of the students already have moved to the new campus on Bonifacio and Marikina Streets, also in Marikina, to cross the river for the construction of a new building for the old site.

Now, however, and the situation has yet to be resolved, as Lino was not to discuss the issue with Education Secretary DepEd Armin Luistro.

The majority of the school's teachers, students and their parents have opposed the transfer, saying they would have to spend more money on transport. But the city of the new school campus is about a kilometer away from the old one.

Last year, Lino and his deputy superintendent's position asking the city to move to the new site, as the city government is to construct the school and its facilities and commercial area.

This position, however, was denied by the mayor although Lino and Marikina asked for a transfer to accommodate.

Asked why the new site was not selected before, Lino said the city was not to discuss the issue with Education Secretary DepEd Armin Luistro.

Muslim group bucks demolition move

By John M. Abcede

MUSLIM LEADERS LIVING IN THE subdivision area in Marikina, Metro Manila, are protesting against a proposed plan of a government agency to demolish houses and construct a new site.

"These people will do it by the middle of the year, but we will not let them do it," said a leader of the group.

Residents, who have formed a group called the Muslim Community Development Association (MCDA), are protesting against the proposed plan of a government agency to demolish houses and construct a new site.

The group claimed that in 2006, the Marikina City Government had approved a plan to demolish the houses and construct a new site.

Now, the Philippine Islamic Association (PIA) is protesting against the plan.

"We are willing to be demolished, but the PIA will not let the houses be demolished," said a leader of the group.

He added that the PIA will discuss the plan with the Marikina City Government.

Puentevella: RP will lose SEAG overall title to Thailand

By Jesse Nolasco

THE PHILIPPINE CHAMPIONSHIP OF BADMINTON for this year's 24th Southeast Asian Games in Thailand has drawn to a close, with Puentevella, the Philippines' top player, losing to Thailand's top player, Nongkhai, in the final.

Puentevella, who was captain of the Philippine Olympic Committee, arrived in Manila to win a silver medal in the final.

"It was a great event," said Puentevella. "The Philippine Olympic Committee was very successful in organizing the event. The Philippines was very successful in winning the silver medal. The Philippines was very successful in winning the silver medal. The Philippines was very successful in winning the silver medal."

The first sports officials to arrive in Manila for the SEA Games were the Philippine Olympic Committee officials. They arrived in Manila on June 1, 2007, and stayed in Manila for the SEA Games. They arrived in Manila on June 1, 2007, and stayed in Manila for the SEA Games.

IABC / PHILIPPINES
INTERNATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF BUSINESS COMMUNICATORS

Leading and linking Filipino communicators to the world

THE WHOLE WORLD IS INTERCONNECTED, largely because of the ceaseless advance of communication technologies. It is almost impossible not to be part of this global link. But the challenge is not about being connected. It is about being linked with the right people.

The International Association of Business Communicators (IABC) provides the best venue for interconnection among communicators and clients. Through its website, publications, conferences, and database, and an active network of more than 14,000 communicators in over 70 countries, IABC offers excellent linkages for IABC-Philippines-based members.

IABC Philippines equips communicators with the skills and knowledge to be an asset to this network, by providing products, services, activities and networking opportunities that help them serve their clients. The leading PR industry association has a new leadership under Veronica L. Tapia-Merk of Merck Communication and consultant for bank of the Philippine Islands, president; Ray Anthony David, Jr., Great Wall Advertising, executive vice president; Elpi Cans, Jr., Merck, VP for finance; and the board of directors are Ramon Osorio, ABS-CBN; Colette Rosales, Fleishman-Hillard Manila; Carmencita Aron, GMA Network; N. Jeric Sevilla, Jr., Manila Water; Virginia Rabinov, Petrus Corporation; Ramon Ibarra, Smart Communications; Evangelina Pelamora, Second Images Productions Inc; and Chito Macapagal, Unilever Philippines.

IABC Philippines' annual activities include recognition programs such as the CEO Excel (Communication Excellence in Organizations) Awards, which is given to chief executives who have shown outstanding communication skills, and the Philippine Gold Quill Awards, which recognizes communica-

Unilever

Unilever's Pastiglahan ang Batang Pinoy does more than just give food to undernourished children. As a holistic and sustainable feeding program, it also looks after their developmental needs such as education and values formation as well as empowers their mothers with menu planning and budgeting skills. Since 2002, Unilever Philippines, Kalingap-Kalahi, Department of Social Welfare and Development, and various local government units have been working together to help address the undernourishment of children in communities where Unilever operates.

Pastiglahan ang Batang Pinoy supports the UN Millennium Development Goals which aim to eradicate extreme poverty and hunger, and reduce child mortality among others by year 2015.

This is Unilever's way of adding vitality to life.

Communications has become integral to the success of individuals and organizations in this modern age. Thus, IABC Philippines is proud of its roster of publications which aim to advance the learning and career of today's communicators.

Coursebook I and II

IABC Philippines has come out with two editions of what may be the first local coursebook on Public Relations, entitled The Best PR Programs and Tools. Edited by IABC board member and ABS-CBN's corporate communication head Bong Garcia, the books showcase winning entries in the IABC Gold Quill Philippines Awards. It is a perfect reference for communication students and professionals because it contains not only cases from top companies but guide questions as well.

The cases inevitably demonstrate that effective communication strategies, and their implementation through various tools, enable managers to accomplish business objectives either in a shorter time, and at less expense or effort. The Best PR Programs and Tools was published by the GNT Publishing House. For more inquiries, call 750-5607 or visit www.gnt.com.ph.

The Best CEO Speeches

The association is also embarking on another book entitled Winning Heats and Minds: The Best CEO Speeches in the Philippines. The book will contain samples of persuasive and intelligent speeches delivered by the CEOs, given in the context of the Philippine or Asian business environment. The speeches will reflect the core values that the company stands for, and help other executives and professional communicators in producing well-crafted speeches that inspire, motivate, and mobilize employees and other stakeholders, and achieve specific corporate objectives.

Companies interested in having their CEO's speeches included may contact the IABC office at 750-5607 or e-mail us at fi@iabc.com.ph for inquiries.

2bU! survey: What are you most excited about this school year?

Text and photos by Miss Mark H. Salinas
2bU! Correspondent

WHILE SOME STUDENTS (okay, most) feel that summer break has just started and more time is needed for beach trips, late nights and lots of shawty, there are those who are actually missing the minutes to the First Day of School!

Check out why these students are excited about going back to campus.

Can't say I didn't see the school year.—Sharon, Southridge
After a bunch of late nights last year, I'm looking forward to subjects that are new.

Relationships.—Belon, 19

It's time to learn my own things, new ones and new lingo. Philadelpia, 20

Shoe tips for rainy days

By Angela N. Ispas
2017 Correspondent

IT'S THE SEASON OF TRICKING-YER-EGH! Boots get a little less from looking like a doorman's, so you inevitably run the risk of ending your shoe's life, but so is wearing something because if you're not careful.

If you want your footwear to make it through the rainy season, check out these tips.

• Wear bring an extra pair of shoes (and socks, if needed). Certain types of black shoes tend to have nasty blue-black stains on your feet or socks when they get soaked. That's why it's crucial for you to change shoes right away once you step out in the rain. If you're anticipating a major downpour, bring a pair of sturdy rubber boots to replace.

• If you don't want to bring something bulky or if your shoes are made of this extremely malleable like suede, buy a pair of inflatable plastic flip-flop boots that you can slip on over what you're wearing. Check out the Department Store in Manila and see if they carry them. Also, bring a waterproof bag or even a sturdy plastic bag you can use to put in your soggy shoes to ease you get through the flood on the way to school.

• Don't make a habit of wearing flip-flops inside the shoes, or else the wadded material will cause the glue on flip-flops to become soft. Wetness can also cause rubber soles to peel, especially if your shoes aren't boot-soled in a long time.

Here's a handy tip you get from: Queen Bee's club Golden shoe Carey. Carey stuff the inside with rolled-up newspaper and leave it overnight so that it can absorb all the moisture. Unlike shoe paper, it won't leave sticky white stains all over the leather, and it's more convenient to leave in boots.

Here's how to help your poor footwear survive the wet season

• Having a problem with easily-soaked shoes? Put a container of baking soda in your shoes to absorb the moisture and bacteria from your feet.

• Never leave your shoes out to dry under direct sunlight, especially if they're made of leather. They can become cracked and dry as sandals, which can cause your feet to chafe. Wipe up the water as best as you can and air-dry them at room temperature.

• If there are yellowish mud stains on your white canvas sneakers that won't be removed after basic scrubbing, here's a little white trick: A white vinegar or white salt water solution can help. Rub the solution on the stain with a brush and let it dry. Most of the time, you won't even notice the difference.

• If your shoes are not skidproof and you're afraid of slipping on a wet floor, a respiratory solution is to dab the sole with any kind of talcum powder. The downside is that it can get irritatingly sticky when you're walking on smooth surfaces, so do this only during emergencies.

Do you have a handy-daddy?

IF YOUR DAD is SO-EXTREMELY kind of guy? Don't waste time about that, is it? Is he a sucker for home improvement projects? Is he in his element when he has something to do around the house?

When you go out shopping, does he lead the way to the hardware store?

In half words or less, tell us about your handy-daddy and his latest or best DIY project. Send on a photo of him with his very own creation—a chair, a bookcase, a table, any furniture or home accessory, that he made himself.

Note: We will be paying out monetary prizes for the best.

Importers Lifestyle will pick the best five handy-daddies from our readers' entries and will take them shopping at Macys when they visit each with more than $50,000 worth of purchases courtesy of Handymen, plus a lifetime $5000 digital camera courtesy of BestPhoto.com.

To enter, give your name and age, your dad's name and age, your address, telephone number (a) and mobile phone number (a).

Submit your entry to Philippine Daily Inquirer, 1008 Gloria Ramos Avenue, Makati, Metro Manila 1200. Or e-mail to diy@inquirer.com.ph. Deadline for entries is June 6.

A new resort in Panglao, Bohol, combines natural endowments and manmade amenities

By Mike Mark M. Salhan

BORNEO HAD ALWAYS BEEN A dream local destination of mine. It was on the Choose-see 1990s which had always triggered me. Among the popular tourists which I had always wanted to see up close.

Recently, the travel gods granted my wish and I had the chance to finally see Borneo and its Charming Hills and rivers—and even more.

I was followed as I always travel. About 10 days, the much loved about found new luxury resort in Panglao. To be less than 20 minutes, we drove through the new transportation to Panglao airport in Panglao, which provided to give me a great insight into all the beauty and beauty of the region.

Once I set foot on Panglao's white sands, I really understood what the best was all about.

Panglao is the lap of luxury. It is a magnificent place to stay in this magnificent development. It's gorgeous. It's beautiful.

'Bale'

The Bale hotel resort is composed of 11 single detached detached villas in total, each one built with sturdy construction materials and easily using bamboo, copper and wood for a modern Filipino look, reminiscent of the famous Boracay resort in Panglao. Interestingly, both villas were designed by architect Scott Wilson, who is known to promote eco-friendly Filipinos.

Panglao has four detached villas with a whirlpool pool for two and an indoor garden setting, an indoor pool villa with whirlpool, three detached villas with whirlpool, a family villa with a whirlpool pool for two, and a presidential villa complete with a swimming pool and an outdoor spa.

The whirlpool villa I stayed in was built, clean and easy and it made me want to live there forever. My trip was not too long and I had the best sleep ever, thanks to the good down pillows and high thread count sheets. My very spacious bathroom had a complete array of amenities, hygiene essentials and valuefully towels.

Everything was there including hot water, aircon, coffee and tea-making facilities, safety deposit box, hair dryer, a computer, flat telephone access with two extensions, flat-screen television with cable, DVD player and more than 20 speakers. My hotel was complete that I found it very tempting to just stay in the WHILE TALKING ABOUT El Niño's problem beaches, people often are inspired to swim. Like the Ark of the Covenant or the Stations of Faith, the place is divine, mystical and vitalizing to most. Swimmers want to feel inspired.

But it turns out El Niño is not the exclusive domain of dollar-costing markets. African steel, steel, it is called and other things. We went down recently for the Thai Rubber's new forest.

That's how low rates can go in Southeast Asia. Meanwhile, the Philippines, Costa Pacific and Philippine Airlines all have regular flights to Puerto Francisco. The last one, up to $7,000 and takes an hour. (Source: See down on El Niño, a more ambitious cost.)

Buty both months costs a week. A hotel is around $12,000 and the trip takes about a day and a half.

Once in Joplin, Missouri, make your way to the bus terminal at the New Public Market on Second Street, between 14th and 16th Sts.; the line is P200. From there, it's a nine-hour bus ride south through Tulsa and Turkey before you reach OKC.

The house on the west side contains a radiating-hill, that waters to the eastward and fields dotted with huts. Bring your gun and a basket, as the road traverses from grass to rough open ground.

Expensive but delicious

The forest of St Nicks is burned after the vegetation had very little time to grow again since the Chinese conflict. Wangs took to the Famen Mountains (1980). But vegetation has been disrupted by forest fires and the wildlife, such as the black

The president is a tough but vulnerable lady

THE WORLD HAS A NEW HERO: Commander in Chief. She gives a new spin to the "presidential dour" female line-up by "The View" (May 14, 2007).

At 2 p.m. on Tuesday, the show's new program is held in one of the most important places in the White House: the Oval Office.

In every sense, the 42-year-old president is a tough but vulnerable lady. She is a woman of power with a tough but vulnerable lady. She is a woman of power with a tough but vulnerable lady. She is a woman of power with a tough but vulnerable lady.

Problems abound

De la Hoya, who recently signed a multi-million-dollar contract for HBO's "My Angel to Peking Express" and "Tale of the Dragon", is returning to the game with CBA 7's semi-annual time slot now open, "Impostors," which debuted on Monday.

"Although it's an original song by R. Scorsio, this song has a familiar touch," Enix says. "It's a lot like a Mexican bolero with its lyrics and notes. There's deep emotion and mystery. It requires suspension of disbelief."

The song tells the story of conjoined twins played by twin brothers Charles and Clinton Brown as kids and by Joe Cabbato and Dan delo Cabbato as adults. As kids, they are separated, but a violent storm results in fatal injury around the use of the mirror. With the magic of plastic surgery, however, the other twin is restored. Admission: $10.00. (Theatrebox, 1900)

Cubano: admitted that the new song "has famous elements. It certainly isn't a bad one, it's not really subliminal."

On Sept. 14, she clearly hoped that viewers would find the new soap "entertaining."

Leading movie star Mithun Chakraborty pointed out: "I expect it to be an exhilarating show in the style of 'Wake Up,' which captured the hearts of many Indians."

"For focus very demanding, I want them to take acting seriously." All the stars have been working hard. On his Brown, noted a question

 Inspired by real, unsolved crimes against the city's mostly Mexican youth from 1960s, the gritty drama thrives as a lurid cop story (Lopez) is the middle of an explosive murder investigation. This movie was reportedly ground with "weathered bones" at this year's Berlin film fair. Conventional cop points out that the "more difficult" he is, "the more I like." Quipster not agrees: "I'd ditch the chair... it took to universal grief tradition... to the grace of extermination." Leslie Polgria also says it's "only fair to put" both accounts of "The Hollywood Reporter" notes: "TVO repeats such police stories."

The an-die-ah-ahs, like those at home films—"Night of the Glass," "Faster Is So Slow," "Raiders," "Narcosis," "Blackboard Jungle," and others—these films are not a case of over-the-top.

"I get moved easily," she admits. "I've seen inside the chamber. That's why my throat is stuffed up in it. But if I saw it through a television screen, I'd be like, 'That's kind of like its environment. It has some of the anatomy but there are no details of the same parts.'"

The film's on-screen Black, the 1990 scholar "The Battle of the Living Dead," says, "It's about the Black man's fear of the Black man. Self-hatred. It's good that way for the production of many more horror movies here." It seems.

Black considers how Blacks move different from whites, the director of serious, "specialized" films. It's a major concern," she explains. "The fear factor, it's very physical—can someone be

"Although the original is master, this version is better in film quality and special effects," he explains.

"Drumhead" is about intertribe hatreds who transform into monstrous rageful devouring humans. The version features the Thewak in three forms—Bane that he is on land, water and air.

"WE HAVE A LOT OF things to consider when it comes to working with children. First on the list is safety in the rules of the Department of Labor and Employment (DOLE)," said Shaina Manalang, who has in her case been seen ages 12 to 14.

Manalang, creative producer of "Sparks Kids," is closely working with Jani Sanchez, 12, Cyrene Pimental, 14, Janiel Santos, 12 and Karen Arden Reyes, 14—some of the world's youngest showbiz stars.

"According to the regulation imposed by the DOLE, we can only work with the kids for three hours a day," Manalang told Inquirer Lifestyle.

"We also have to comply with certain law books."

The DOLE director prohibits child labor below 15 to work between 6 p.m. and 6 a.m., while kids 13, from 6 p.m. to 6 a.m.

"There are laws on when they should work, we have to consider the time they also for schooling, resting and competition. TV is actually the last on their list," Manalang said.

Sanchez, seen making it a reality in "Survivor: Island," is a pioneer in working little babies.

Aaron, who is from Joross, is a budding star.
